Four Olmsted Parks Finished; Dedication October 31

Workmen are putting final touches on Dellwood, Shadyside and Virgilee parks before the dedication at 1 pm on Friday, October 31. State, county and city leaders will join the Druid Hills community in celebrating completion of the $2.5 million project and in kicking off a fundraising campaign to begin rehabilitation of the two remaining segments of the Olmsted Linear Park. The ceremony will be held in Dellwood Park near the corner of Clifton Road and South Ponce de Leon Avenue.

The October 31st dedication is the second such ceremony for OLPA. A similar ceremony in May 2001 celebrated the rehabilitation of the Oak Grove Park segment, a project which cost $1.5 million. Funding sources for work on all four parks have included government and foundation grants as well as gifts from groups and individuals.

Walkers and joggers began enjoying the new park vistas as soon as the asphalt path was installed last summer. Together, the four segments include almost 6,000 linear feet of paths and 2,600 new trees and shrubs. The most expensive aspect of construction was the burial of utility lines. Approximately 11 miles of conduit and cable lie beneath the period lampposts that ring the parks.

The two remaining segments to be rehabilitated are Springdale and Deepdene, which serve as "bookends" to the linear park. Springdale is the gateway to the city and will be first, followed by Deepdene on the Decatur end.

As in the earlier phases, the public will be invited to participate in formulating plans for each new rehabilitation project. A Master Plan for the park was developed in 1995 through the efforts of many interested parties, including Park Pride, Olmsted Parks Society and Druid Hills Civic Association.

Druid Hills and its centerpiece green space were the last suburban design executed by Frederick Law Olmsted, Sr., acclaimed "father of American landscape architecture." Olmsted, who designed Central Park in New York City, came to Atlanta in 1890 to work with developer Joel Hurt to create an "ideal residential suburb."

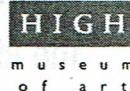

The Olmsted Linear Park Alliance (OLPA), a public-private partnership, was established in 1997 to ensure the preservation of the park for future generations.

Clifton Presbyterian Church To Close On October 5

Clifton Presbyterian Church opened its doors to the Lake Claire neighborhood in May, 1924 at the corner of Nelms and McLendon Avenues. While construction of the church building was underway, the congregation met in the garage of Broadus and Lautoria Estes on Clifton Road. In the 1960s the church moved to its present location at the corner of Connecticut and McLendon Avenues. Since 1979 the church has not only been a place of worship, but also a year-round emergency night shelter for homeless men called Clifton Night Hospitality. The Saturday Food Pantry has provided emergency food for many neighborhood families.

When the Lake Claire Neighborhood organization started in the 1970s, the monthly meetings were held at Clifton Church! The yard has been the site of neighborhood weddings, Easter Egg Hunts and Parades, and the ticket sales location for the Tour of Funky Homes.

Due to dwindling membership and reduced financial resources, the church has decided to close October 5, 2003. The Food Pantry closed August 1. Clifton Night Hospitality has recently merged with Lake Claire Apartments, a non-profit transitional home for men, and is now called Clifton Sanctuary Ministries. The Presbytery of Greater Atlanta will lease the church building to Clifton Sanctuary Ministries to continue the night shelter ministry.

The church, shelter, and neighborhood have enjoyed a good friendship through the years. We are sad to close the church and want to say a heartfelt thanks to all the Lake Claire neighbors who have worshipped with us and supported the night shelter and food ministries. It has been a good journey.

You are invited to the final worship service, October 5 at 10:00 a.m. We will sing favorite hymns, share fond memories, and give thanks for 79 years of ministry in the Lake Claire neighborhood.

Sevananda Survey Results

A national survey found a majority of Americans trust the Cooperative form of business more than public companies. Two-thirds of consumers believe businesses owned and governed by customers (as co-ops are) and have consumers on their boards of directors (as co-ops do) are more trustworthy than other types of businesses, and 81 percent agreed that co-ops can be counted on to meet their customers needs, compared to 65% for public corporations. Full survey details are available from Sevananda.
